Subject: Conversion of agricultural land for housing in Lompoc

I am opposed to the proposal to convert 148 acres of agricultural land in Lompoc to land for housing. Agriculture is a vital industry in this area and sustains many workers and their households, so there would be significant economic loss to the community. I understand that there is enough undeveloped land within the city of Lompoc's boundaries to make housing development possible so why take away people's livelihoods earned from farming? Please analyze all of the factors involved in the potential effects of this misguided proposal.
